Interviewee 01: Rainbow Employee

Problem: In Rainbow cash & carry, Bahria town branch, employees have a shift from 1pm-9pm and they are not allowed to sit for even 5 minutes.

Solution: Complaining to rainbow's management, but I think that's not going to work as their policy is flawed and they're basically abusing their rights by putting minimum wage employees in difficult situations and therefore we must report to higher power who can review their policy and job regulations.

Interviewee 02: Student at BNU

Problem: In Bahria Town, there's a long road, from Talwar Chowk to Jamia Masjid and there's not a single cut in between which makes it a hassle to travel around and everyone has to travel a really long distance just to cross the road. It basically divides Bahria Town into two. This was not the situation 5-6 years ago, but due to a lot of accidents they came up with the worst idea and that was to permanently close all cuts and corners.

Solution: Put speed breakers and barriers between small intervals and every cut and corner.

Interviewee 03: Rainbow Employee

Problem: Mosques in Bahria are put on lockdown after a few minutes of fard prayer, and people who are not able to make it on time can't enter the mosque. They can't use the restroom, and not even the wudu area. Everything is locked up and then those people, who are mainly working class and can't arrive on time due to their strict work timings, on minimum wage and come from far away have to look for homes where they can find someone kind enough to let them use the restroom and prayer area.

Solution: Don't lockdown mosques. And if it's really necessary then increase security by installing cameras and alarms.
