1. Choosing the Right Platform

A startup plans to sell handmade children's toys. The business has a limited budget and can only create basic visual content. Recommend two suitable social media platforms for this business and justify your selection based on target audience and content suitability.

Solution:

The two most suitable platforms for this startup are Facebook and Instagram.

Justification:

Instagram is highly effective for visual products like handmade children's toys. The startup can use simple photos, reels, and stories to showcase toys and attract parents with minimal content effort.

Facebook is ideal because a large number of parents actively use Facebook, and it supports business pages, groups, marketplace listings, and low-budget ads, helping the startup reach the right audience quickly and affordably.

2. A student wants to launch an online bakery targeting university students and young professionals. Explain the concept of brand feeling. Then, suggest one appropriate brand feeling for this business and write a one-line social media bio using the taught format.

Solution:

Concept of Brand Feeling

Brand feeling refers to the emotions and feelings a brand creates in the minds of customers, such as happiness, trust, excitement, comfort, or luxury. It helps shape how people emotionally connect with a business, not just what the business sells.

Suggested Brand Feeling for Online Bakery

An appropriate brand feeling for this business is “Warmth and Happiness.” The bakery should make students and young professionals feel comforted, cheerful, and rewarded, like enjoying a fresh treat during a busy day.

One-line Social Media Bio

“Freshly baked desserts for students and young professionals, spreading warmth and happiness in every bite | Order now.”

3. An entrepreneur creates a new Facebook account using the business name and then creates a business page from it. Identify two problems with this approach and explain the correct method of creating a Facebook business page.

Solution:

Violation of Facebook policy:

Facebook requires personal accounts to represent real individuals, not businesses. Creating a personal account with a business name can lead to account suspension or permanent ban.

Lack of proper management and security:

A fake personal account limits role management, ad access, analytics, and business tools, making it difficult to securely manage the page or run ads professionally.

The correct way is to first create a personal Facebook account with real personal details, then from that account, go to Create → Page, choose Business or Brand, enter the business name and category, and set up the business page. After that, the business page can be managed through Meta Business Suite, and multiple roles (admin, editor, advertiser) can be assigned.

4. A business owner posts regularly on Instagram but cannot access Insights or promote posts. Analyze the reason for this issue and describe the steps required to correctly set up an Instagram Business account.

Solution:

Reason for the issue:

The business owner is most likely using a personal Instagram account, not a Business or Creator account. Insights and post promotion features are only available on professional accounts connected to a Facebook Page.

Steps to correctly set up an Instagram Business account:

1. Go to Instagram Settings → Account → Switch to Professional Account.
2. Select Business as the account type.
3. Choose a business category (e.g., Bakery, Clothing Brand).
4. Connect the account to a Facebook Page.
5. Complete the business profile details (bio, contact info, website).

After this setup, the user will be able to access Insights, ads, and promotional tools.

5. A clothing brand wants to automatically respond when users comment "PRICE" on Instagram posts. Identify the appropriate tool for this task and explain two requirements for automation to work correctly.

Solution:

The most suitable tool is ManyChat (Instagram comment automation tool).

Reasons:

The Instagram account must be a Business account and connected to a Facebook Page so automation tools can access messages and comments.

The Instagram account must be properly connected to ManyChat, and a comment trigger workflow must be set (for example, when someone comments "PRICE," an automatic message is sent).
