 - After this, select the extension icon from top, and pin it

Short Tail vs. Long Tail Keywords

- A short-tail keyword (also called a broad keyword) is a general search phrase usually made up of one to two words that covers a wide topic and has high search volume, high competition, and broad user intent.

❑ For example : “shoes”, “digital marketing”, “laptop”

❑ Key Characteristics

- ✓ 1–2 words
- ✓ Very high search volume and high keyword difficulty
- ✓ High competition
- ✓ Broad and unclear intent
- ✓ Harder to rank for

Short Tail vs. Long Tail Keywords

- A long-tail keyword is a specific search phrase usually made of 3 or more words that targets a narrow topic and shows clear user intent. These keywords have lower search volume, lower competition, and higher conversion rates.

❑ For example : “best running shoes for flat feet women”, “affordable digital marketing course in Lahore”, “buy lightweight gaming laptop under $1000”

❑ Key Characteristics

- ✓ 3 or more words
- ✓ Specific and detailed
- ✓ Lower search volume and low difficulty
- ✓ Low competition
- ✓ Higher chances of ranking
- ✓ Strong, clear user intent

Short Tail vs. Long Tail Keywords

- So the question here is where to focus ? short tail keywords or long tail keywords?

Answer is : long tail keyword because the keyword difficulty is lower but make sure there should be some search volume

- Long tail keywords are also known as low hanging fruits
- Suppose there is a web page of your website for which you need 5-7 keywords, so the right approach is:
 - 1st keyword -> short tail keywords
 - 2nd keyword → long tail keywords
 - 3rd keywords → long tail keywords
 - 4th keywords → long tail keywords
 - 5th keywords → long tail keywords
 - 6th keywords → long tail keywords
 - 7th keywords → long tail keywords

- Keyword Placement → add/use selected keywords on relevant pages to improve ranking of our pages for target keywords
